HUNGARY SIGNS TREATY

FIRST PACT TO BE SIGNED AHEAD OF TIME LIMIT

VERSAILLES, June 4.—(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)—The treaty of peace with Hungary was signed in the Grand Trianon Palace here at 4:25 o'clock this afternoon.

The Hungarian treaty was the first of the treaties framed by the peace conference to be signed ahead of time. Premier Millerand of France was one of the earliest arrivals at the palace, being followed shortly afterwards by Hugh G. Wallace, the American ambassador.

COMMISSION NAMED TO END WAGE DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, June 4.—President Wilson today appointed a commission of three men to settle the wage controversy between the anthracite coal miners and operators.

The commission's award is to be made within sixty days, if possible, and its award on wages will be retroactive to April 1, the date when the contracts between the miners and operators expired.

The members of the commission are William O. Thompson, of Columbus, Ohio; Neal J. Perry, of Melrose, Pa.; and William L. Coughlin, of Scranton, Pa.

Mr. Thompson, who will represent the public on the commission, is president of Ohio State university. Mr. Perry, who will represent the miners, is a member of the executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America, and Mr. Coughlin, the operators' representative, is an independent operator.

Under the agreement by which the president appointed the commission the miners are to remain at work until the award is made. Both sides are expected to abide by the commission's award which will be made the basis for a new wage agreement between the miners and operators in such manner as the commission may determine.

This procedure in settling the controversy in the anthracite fields is similar to that followed in adjusting the differences between the bituminous miners and operators early this year after the strike in the soft coal fields last November.

Women Rule Famous Wyoming "Bad Men's" Town

Jackson, Wyoming, one of the most notorious towns in the United States, and boasting a population of only 250, has suddenly attained national celebrity by electing women to all its municipal offices. Time was the "bad men's town."

The community, wagon, sled and railroad, however, reformed years ago and now is isolated communities in the United States, and boasting a population of only 250, has suddenly attained national celebrity by electing women to all its municipal offices. Time was the "bad men's town."

SALVATION ARMY HOME WILL SERVE MANY USEFUL PURPOSES

When the new home is built for the Salvation Army, which will be after the drive which is now on for financial support has gone over the top, it will be used for many good and sacrosanct purposes.

The first floor will be used as an auditorium for religious meetings, etc. This auditorium will have a seating capacity of 250, much larger than the one now in use, enabling the work to be carried on on a much larger scale.

The second floor will be used as an emergency home for women and children, a much needed institution in Portsmouth. One large room on the second floor will be used as a Mother's Room; and another as a day nursery, where the little ones of working mothers, etc., can be cared for.

This work will be in charge of Edgerton and Mrs. W. H. Phillips, now in charge of the local post, who will be assisted by a trained worker brought here by the Salvation Army.

FLAMING, ITCHING SKIN DISEASES

Cause Untold Suffering that Could Be Relieved, and that is why you rely upon local treatment of salves, ointments, washes and such remedies.

But these remedies cannot possibly have any real curative effect upon the trouble, because your disease comes from far below the surface.

B. S. is one of the most satisfactory remedies for diseases of the skin because it goes direct to the seat of the trouble and by cleansing the blood of all impurities and disease germs, it keeps the skin free from infection, and restores it to its normal, healthy condition.

POLITICS

NEW YORK, June 4.—A Chicago dispatch to the New York American says:

"Major General Wood took control of his campaign out of the hands of William Cooper Proctor last night and placed Frank Hitchcock in complete charge."

"The change in the management was made at a conference attended by Wood and his supporters. These men convinced Wood that his campaign was in a bad shape and the only chance for improvement was in turning the entire management over to Hitchcock."

"It is understood that he will be in complete control for Wood on the convention floor."

The change was not a surprise among presidential row. Wood's chances of getting the nomination have grown weaker each day since Proctor told the Senate committee last week what he knew of Wood's funds.

The Wood managers also have been unable to turn the report that Proctor and Hitchcock have beat-outs to home folks. He was in Clarendon on the lookout for a pitcher and took advantage of a chance to visit his family. His team is going strong and he says he has a chance to cut the pace and if he can dig up one or two old heads, who can deliver the goods.

Another important development of the day was the intimation that Governor Loveland has decided to run his own campaign from now on. He, like Wood, who has threatened the man who advanced half a million dollars to his cause, had to take some drastic action to keep his campaign from going on the rocks."

COLUMBUS, O., June 4.—A swing to Governor James M. Cox from the nucleus of support for Herbert C. Hoover is claimed by the Governor's friends, citing both newspaper accounts from the West, editorial comment and personal correspondence.

In Tacoma, without any prompting from the Cox headquarters, a Hoover Club is reported to have changed itself into a Cox Club when Hoover announced himself a Republican. The qualities sought in Hoover were found in Governor Cox, the leaders said.

"The Cox headquarters made public a letter to Edmund H. Moore, general manager in which H. M. McDonald, a Los Angeles business man and political leader says:

"With Mr. Hoover eliminating himself as a Democratic candidate, I find that Hoover supporters in the Pacific Coast are swinging toward Governor Cox. Many Hoover clubs were formed in this section of the country, especially in California and Washington, including Democrats who looked upon Hoover as being best fitted for the presidency by reason of his vast business experience."

"When Hoover announced himself Republican with the further statement that he would not accept the Democratic nomination, Democratic members of Hoover clubs and men of like sentiments turned toward Governor Cox as the Democratic candidate, casting up to the needs of the hours from the standpoint of needed training, direction of large business enterprises and demonstrated ability to manage public affairs on a business basis.

"As publisher of two large daily papers with other business' connections, Governor Cox obtained a trading which manifested has enabled him to manage state affairs on the same prompt, efficient manner in which he has handled his private affairs."

"Cox in his public life has shown capabilities to entangle complicating situations quickly, find a solution and set remedial means in operation without delay. It is this sort of ability, the nation needs in its highest office during the reconstruction period."

Send 'Em Back To Wilhelm, Some Suggest

BERLIN, May 25.—Many Germans apparently still find some difficulty in realizing that the Imperial and royal regime is a thing of the past. There are, indeed, extremists on the older hand, who object to the eagle on the Prussian escutcheon looking towards the right instead of the left "as a republican eagle ought to," but signs boards in the Tiergarten, for instance, still bear the inscription "Royal Forestry Department," and there are shopkeepers who display signs that they are "purveyors to H. M. the emperor and king," or "court" photographers. It is rather pathetic nowadays to behold small boys in sailor suits, wearing caps with ribbons "H. M. S.'s submarine flotilla" or "H. M. S.'s air force."

"What to do with the marble statues of William II, the father of the Emperor, in Siegesallee—the famous avenue of victory in the Tiergarten—has become a public question. They were erected under the former emperor's supervision between 1888 and 1901.

The haughty Joachim, Albrecht and Otto in their armor, mailed fists grasping huge sabres, look sternly off of place under a socialist regime. One writer suggests that they should be shipped, freight prepaid, to Wilhelm's residence in Holland.

LITTLE BABY GIRL IS ABANDONED IN AN ORCHARD

South Portsmouth Man Discovers Child On His Way To Work; Babe Living

Weak cries of a baby were the unusual sounds that reached the ears of Will Anderson, N. and W. shop employee as he passed through the orchard back of his home in South Portsmouth, opposite the old City Waterworks about five o'clock this (Friday) morning and which a few seconds later led to the discovery of an abandoned girl baby which had been left in the orchard under the low hanging boughs of an apple tree. Mr. Anderson picked up the child and hurried to his house where his wife gave the baby a warm bath and rubbed it thoroughly reviving blood circulation.

The baby is about a week old, had dark blue eyes and appears to be in a healthy condition according to Dr. Meadows of Fullerton who was called by Mrs. Anderson to examine the child. According to the physician the baby would have died probably had it been left exposed to the elements a short time longer.

Harold Anderson while they were looking after the attention of Mr. Anderson.

Many Want To Adopt Little One
The baby is not going to lack for from the river to the orchard the care. This was clearly demonstrated tracks of both a man's and woman's this morning shortly after the news spread that the baby had been found. The tracks leading toward the river spread that the baby had been found. The tracks leading toward the river as neighbors from over half a mile away that the woman used the path distant were at the home ready to do the river while the man cut across the road wanting to take the baby into their home.

According to the physician the baby was found near the river's edge keep the baby providing her husband has given his consent. Should Mr. Anderson's tracks indicate that the woman have a different view about the that they seemed to be watching them, the child will soon find an other home for several young married couples in the neighborhood are willing and blindfolded returned to the couple's home. The man's tracks indicate that the woman used the path the worn an English style shoe about No. 7 or 8 while the size of the woman's tracks show that she wore about a No. 4 shoe.

Among the people who want the baby are Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Parker who lost a baby girl shortly after birth. Mrs. Ethel Kirk who has no children. Mrs. Anderson is anxious to keep the baby as she lost a baby daughter by death several months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson's youngest child is Charlene, aged 14 years. Mr. Anderson is a boxer at the N. and W. cornerhouse.

It was about five o'clock when Mr. Anderson started for his work. There is a pathway down through the small orchard in the rear of his house and another in the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Jones just west of the Anderson home. Usually Mr. Anderson uses the Jones path but this morning as fate would have it, he took his own pathway which led to the finding of the baby. The person or persons placing the baby in the orchard must have abandoned the baby only a short time before or after the hard storm which was about three weeks this morning. The baby was wrapped well in a light baby coat and was found Mrs. Fred Jagerish called Mrs. Anderson on her back, the front clothes being wet through while the clothes glue the baby's hands. This kind home offered even before the under the baby were just damp. This kind home offered even before the woman had seen the baby.

Baby clothes of every description have been brought in by neighbors this morning. The clothes worn by the baby were practically new and still the store marks although the marks did not indicate which store sold the clothes.

All baby clothes donated will be gladly accepted at the Anderson home. The baby had not cried from the time it was found until about eleven hours later when the neighbors who had been playing "soother" to the child were uplifted to put the child into the neighborhood. Harold Anderson informs of Mrs. Anderson.

Edward Faust and H. E. Parker went to Mrs. Seth Jones' next door neighbor down across the tracks and along the river bank and they finally found the parents want to abandon their foot prints of a man and woman lead-filled they should leave it on or near to the spot where the child was the pathway to her home.

Truck And Sedan Collide

Harold Unter, who drives a truck for Jacob Pfleider, a local baker, turned in an ideal Tuesday night when his machine collided with a sedan owned by Ernest Bratt of Websterburg, the collision taking place in Sciotoville.

The sedan was traveling east and north and the two vehicles struck Unter's truck from behind. Major Sam was not seriously injured, but the car was damaged. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

An affidavit was filed in the municipal court of Portsmouth, charging that the sedan, passenger side, was driven by Mayor F. L. Shumaker, who was driving with having obtained him. Under, driver of the

Sciotoville To Vote On Giving Up Charter

The council of Sciotoville, at its meeting Thursday night, unanimously voted to hold an election on the question of surrendering the village charter and fixed June 13 as the date for holding the election.

This means that if the vote on the Portsmouth through annexation proposition is favorable and it carries, Sciotoville

Backers of the annexation plan claim that sentiment is strong among the electors of the village in favor of giving up the charter, and they predict a big affirmative vote on the proposition when it is submitted.

A pretty presumpstional affair of the season was the party given by Miss Mayme Foster, of Gallia, yesterday Thursday night, honoring Miss Edna Thompson, fiancee of Mr. J. Howard Fidger, of Chillicothe, Ohio.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with bowls of pink roses and orange blossoms.

After an evening of 500 the guests were invited to a beautifully appointed table. The dome was covered with a fluffy white shawl, from which were suspended streamers of pink and white ribbons bearing pink hearts.

The center of the table was decorated with a French basket of roses, surrounded by a strand of pink feathers, bearing the names, Thompson-Fidger, June 15th, 1920. Dainty hand-painted birds marked the guest places at the table. The favors were pink baskets filled with candies. The hostess was assisted by Misses Avoca and Blanche Doyle in serving a dainty pink and white tea course.

ARE PLEADING INSANITY IN THE DEVAULT TRIAL

CHILLICOTHE, June 4.—Frank Roffman, one of the attorneys for the defense, was the first witness called by the prosecution in the case of the state against Layton Devault, now on trial in common pleas court for the murder of his father, Noah Devault, at Adelphi, near here, on February 6.

The defense is pleading insanity, claiming that Devault is a neurotic, and the offspring of a family in which insanity played an important role, eleven of the boy's father's family being insane, several in his mother's family being weak minded, two of whom were epileptic.

Prosecutor J. P. Phillips stated to the jury that he would attempt to prove that the elder Devault was the victim of pre-delinquent number at the hands of his 17-year-old son Runer had it Thursday evening that N. & W. detective Andy Leslie had been shot and killed in a pistol duel at the Terminal. Somebody called the Times office and asked about it and the Times got busy at once. It was decided the best way to get information would be to call Mr. Leslie's home. A resounding voice answered the telephone.

"Is this Mr. Leslie?"

"Well, Mr. Leslie, I just called up to tell you that it was rumor that you had been shot and killed. Is there anything in it?"

"Nothing's shaking," came the prompt reply.

The Truth About Tire Mileage

Know the mileage of your tires.

Otherwise you choose tires by guess. Thousands of motorists, by adopting Miller Tires, have increased their average mileage 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

Try at least one Miller on that record, and see what it does for you.

Large tire users nowadays subject all good tires to million-mile comparisons.

Millers are winning those contests. And they have become the most talked-about tires in America.

At the factory, Millers are constantly compared with their rivals, and they constantly prove their supremacy. The new Miller treads outwear all others by 25 per cent.

When super-tires are being built, why not find them out? One test will be a revelation. Come and make it.

BLOCH'S GOOD SUITS ARE A GOOD INVESTMENT

Look at clothes buying as an investment. Think of clothes in terms of value rather than price. It is what you get for what you pay that is important these days. Bloch's suits give you quality of materials and tailoring—right American style, good appearance—faithful service, real economy—an investment in satisfaction. Before you purchase we would ask you to compare the fabrics, the tailoring and the style with any suit anywhere and you will be satisfied that you always get the best values in clothes here.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 4.—The usual irregular price changes were recorded at the opening of today's stock market, indications pointing to another uncertain session. Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, Atlantic Coast Line and International paper were up-chasers for their own point gains, while American woolen represented the reactionary issues at a 2 point decline. Oils and coppers were inclined to waver with food issues. More uncertain tendencies developed within the first half hour.

The market drifted idly but mainly downward during the morning. A few specialties, notably International paper, American writing paper and Union Bag, were the only striking exceptions. Sales in the first hour were less than 50,000 shares, establishing a low record for any similar period other than a week end or for this year. Buyers described the increasing dullness chiefly to uncertainty arising from impending political developments. Money conditions were unchanged, call loans operating and renewing till next Monday at six percent. Trading in bonds was active. Liberty issues again losing ground after opening with a degree of stability.

Trading on the stock exchange today was marked by a steady distribution of operations after the first half hour. Sales declined almost to the smallest total of the year, approaching 350,000 shares.

The closing was firm.

SPLITTING AND DESTROYING

Often a mother, and for that matter a father also, is heard saying to her child: Now, if you do that again you'll get a spanking.

From observation we conclude the child is not much impressed by the threat.

We are reminded of this by the reports of the examiners on the conduct of municipal officers here in Portsmouth.

The threat of something dreadful to be done next time, even when the grossest irregularities are exposed, is always made, but improvement is not seen and nothing is ever done to bring about corrections.

Take the last report as illustration. Something more than a year ago a smart young fellow came along and delved deep into the records. In a voluminous report he showed the most slovenly conduct of public affairs. Everything almost was either done illegally, or neglected. He departed in time leaving behind him the threat that such misconduct would not be tolerated thereafter. Now comes this last one and exposes a defiant continuance in the old ways, and the examiner goes away leaving behind him the threat that next time something will be done.

This seems unusually stupid and an unwarranted insinuation against another because the administration reported in default has gone out of existence leaving behind it only an insidious memory and a yawning deficit to confront its successor.

Now the derelictions and repetitions thereof, reported by the examiners go to the very heart of honest and economical conduct of the city's business. Let us take two matters to show this. In the first it is charged that records, covering financial transactions and criminal records had disappeared and in the second that contracts had been split.

Records, of course, are vital, they make the authentic history and proof of official actions and proceedings. Split contracts are a rather coarse evasion of the law, not often characterized by a keen desire to serve the welfare, and generally the source and inspiration of graft. It not only threatens the honorable conduct of trust responsibilities, but it deprives individuals of rights. A wise provision of the law, made with a full understanding of how the public is man-handled in such matters, requires that where work or material to be supplied the city runs to as much as $500 the contract therefor shall be let at open and public bidding. The object is plain, to give the city the benefit of competition and more especially to prevent the work from being given or parceled out for the gain of private persons—in other words, especially to prevent grafting.

Such matters of violations are of the utmost seriousness, they are the fungas that have burdened every city with an increasing debt. The way to remove them is not by threat of a spanking next time, but by direct action.

Perhaps, after all, the examiners may have in their position, been only yielding to the inescapable. They have, let it be said as their dues, made recommendations that the law be promptly called into force, but neither city solicitor, nor prosecuting attorney, has had his ears open to receive them.

And brethren, there is nothing so deaf as an official who will not hear.

A DIFFERENT CONCEPTION

TIS said that what is everybody's business is nobody's business.

A somewhat altered version of it may have occurred at Wednesday's Chamber of Commerce luncheon, to the effect that what is a public affair is the concern of none.

At that luncheon were not revealed, but emphasized, some local conditions that are in common knowledge, that it is almost beyond belief that they can be tolerated, without so much even as a half-hearted effort to relieve them.

On report made by experts, after a thorough investigation, it was shown that in certain diseases Portsmouth has the highest death rate of any city of her life size in the state and yet the causes that provoke this deplorable and shameful position are easily removable.

These causes are unsanitary conditions, chief of which are neglect to make sewer connections and the dirt and uncleanliness that prevail largely in restaurants, groceries, meat markets and refreshment places. The sewerage neglect is actually grotesque. There are thousands of dwellings that can be and, of course should be, connected and for hundreds the mockery of taking out a permit has been gone through with and there the matter ended.

Because this condition has been so long allowed to exist is no reason at all why it should be permitted to continue.

Having taken the subject in hand it is to be hoped the chamber of commerce will go absolutely into it and never stop until in this respect Portsmouth is made as sanitary as it can be.

Jim Paulkner says the old guard is at Chicago, trying to put over Lowden. We never knew Jim to mistake the appearance of a stalking horse, but sometimes the best eyes deceive. Our bet is it does this time.

The Diary of an Engaged Girl

PLANNING A LARK WITH CECIL

Cecil and I then had a serious talk on the subject of trial marriage. Of course I'm rather hazy on the subject. For various reasons a marriage is at a disadvantage on certain subjects. However I have very definite beliefs and ideals and these help some. Cecil believes that eventually we will have a different system entirely, where the sex relations are concerned. He is not quite sure just how things are going to work out but civilization is on the way to some startling revolution in its marriage system. Marriage, as it was founded so long ago, it has outlived its usefulness. It needs revising, just as many other laws do, every now and then. Times, tastes, and people change. Conditions, with them, and all that makes for change.

It's sensible enough to realize that two people are taking an awful chance on true happiness when they can marry after meeting each other twice, or possibly three times; whereas, a trial marriage for these same two people of a few months would either kill or cure them. When I think of the marriages that were rushed into by young people during the war I lose all respect for matrimony.

At the end of our lunch Cecil suddenly said: "Let's finish this day together, Lindsey—go out into the country somewhere anywhere. I've never had you to myself for a day as long as I've known you, and may never again. Come on out with me. I'll take good care of you, little girl." I was sorely tempted and I fell. The day was still hot, and the thought of a green spot in the country was alluring. It was far too hot to attempt to work in, so I accepted Cecil's invitation.

We decided to hire a car and drive out through the forest as far as we could, and in the cool of the evening have dinner at some quiet little inn. Yes, the picture was alluring to us both, and after we had decided on the trip, we lingered over some delicious black coffee and some of the best Russian cigarettes imaginable.

Cecil told me about his stupid trip to Boston, and of having decided to accept a position up there for a while before going out west. So he will leave New York about the same time as we sail for Europe it seems.

Before leaving I paid up the house, but as no one was in her Nanny didn't say that I would not be in for dinner, so not to wait for me.

"Well just call her up," Lindsey said. "Nanny in her confidential tone. I explained to her that she could not be helped, but that if he called again to tell her that I would accommodate with him in the morning first thing."

"OK, and Mrs. Endowd called up and asked you to come there for dinner this evening," went on that most irritating child. Here I hung up the receiver.

Puzzling the Prelate.

There are some good stories in "Records," Lord Fisher's volume of reminiscences. One of the best concerns a dinner party he gave at his home: "There was present a Roman Catholic archbishop. He was a great saint. Another of my guests was a famous conjurer. After dinner we sat down to play cards. But the new monk I had ready was found to be missing. 'Italian?' I said. 'Where are the cards gone to?' The conjurer said: 'It doesn't matter; the archishop will let us have the pack he always carries about in his pocket.' The holy man further put his hand in his pocket, thinking my enigma friend was only joking—and, dash it, there they were! I never saw such a look in a man's face. He evidently thought Satan was envying about somewhere."

Triflates the Industrious.

Conspiracy is a good quality of disposition, but it is aggravating in the extreme to the industrious person who is aching to see the lazy man get a move on himself.

Billy Whiskers

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

The next day Billy Jr., as the own flock from an enemy, but will acknowledged leader, determined to sneak out and eat up any young lamb that strays from the fold of a stranger's flock.

After this the sheep were more fond of Billy than ever and would go anywhere he led them without a murmur. (Billy Jr. leads the flock through a new danger tomorrow.)

One of the older ladies in Wall Street has finally yielded to the march of progress and installed a telephone. It will only have one phone at first for it is difficult to uproot prejudices of many years. They have never had a telephone because they believed that confidential business could not be conducted over a telephone and their business is after that nature. The atmosphere of the town is still in Colonial times. Mo-reality quiet prevails. The employees retain the old fashioned good man-society. Instead of a lovely laughing creature who tells the world the business is busy in spinning soprano, the business will sing for their first telephone operator a voice with a beard and a silence able to endow his light silence with a certain profundity.

It is to be presumed that dancing is to have a revival this summer. Pa-

Ziegfeld is bringing Art Stewart's band from San Francisco to play two hours nightly on the 2nd and

3rd of June before the Judgment Day is given. News reports that India will be to have another exhibition during pavilion racing in the country of a different order. The situation has improved into an early grave.

The steps are becoming graceful and sensible.

In ye olden days we quipped about the wealth of the New York widow.

Now it is the waitress who is gathering in palm fruits for her labors. A New York newspaper tells of a waitress who lives in splendor at an ornate hotel. And it gives her name, of dress and everything so it must be true.
